Sharon Thole reported on the Food Shelf. Deacon Rick's food shelf drive list generated several pounds of food. 161 pounds of food from St. Edward's have been collected and donated. The list idea was well received.

Kathleen Seiler ordered 11 large poinsettias that will be delivered on December 22. There was discussion on how long the poinsettias should be at the altar. We still have procedure to work out as to who receives the checks and how Kathleen should be contacted before ordering flowers.

Janice Prucha is distributing communion to her neighbor.

There will be a priest staying in the upper apartment in the rectory. He will work in various parishes in our area as the need arises. Deacon Rick is looking in to the purchase of an AED.

The December Bake Sale took place on December 3. Rosanne was given a round of applause for all the work she did for that sale. We cleared $1801.50 after paying $149.50 for ads for the paper. There were no bills to cover Father Joe's caramels. There was discussion if we should merge with the Women of Today or continue to have our own bake sale.

Father intends to make poppyseed rolls for Epiphany in January. He will use our kitchen.

We celebrated Deacon Rick's 25th anniversary as Deacon on Sunday, November 20th after Mass. There was a nice group of people there to celebrate.

Gifts of money were designated for distribution.

Cathy Hasser will take care of the meat and cheese tray with a cake for the firemen in Longville. They will receive this during a January meeting.

We will not be meeting in January. Next meeting is February 8, 2023.

The meeting adjourned at 11:30
